Paul Maass

chains and disciplined growth strategies, combined with his experience leading large, complex global organizations, will be a valuable asset to Valmont's Board. His perspective aligns well with Valmont's focus on executing disciplined growth through strong operations and strategic investment, while delivering long-term value for shareholders."

Since 2016, Mr. Maass has served as the Chief Executive Officer of The Scoular Company, a 133-year-old privately held global company with over $7 billion in annual sales headquartered in Omaha, Nebraska, where he also is a member of the Board of Directors. Scoular provides diversified supply chain solutions across agricultural and biofuels markets through more than 100 offices and facilities worldwide. As the company's first external CEO, Mr. Maass has led a strategic transformation focused on innovation, portfolio expansion and cultural modernization.

Prior to Scoular, Mr. Maass served as President of the Commercial Foods and Private Brands segments for Conagra Brands. During his tenure, he also played a key role in the creation of Ardent Mills, ConAgra's milling joint venture with Cargill and CHS Inc., and served as Chairman of its Board of Directors. He currently serves on the Board of Directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City, Lamb Weston Holdings, Inc. and holds numerous civic and advisory board roles across business, education, and community organizations.

"I am honored to join Valmont's Board of Directors," said Mr. Maass. "Valmont's strong leadership positions in agriculture and infrastructure, combined with its global operating footprint, create a compelling platform for long-term value creation. I look forward to working with the Board and management team to support the company's strategy."
